

Socomec in the Top 4% of the best suppliers worldwide according to rating agency EcoVadis

Benfeld, 9 September 2017

Socomec now figures in the top 4% of the 21,000 companies evaluated by the first worldwide collaborative platform for rating the sustainable development performance of member companies.

Socomec is continuing to make progress in the EcoVadis rating of responsible companies. With a score of 64/100 and a “Gold” rating, Socomec is now ranked in the Top 4% of suppliers in all categories and the Top 2% in the environmental field and responsible purchasing.

EcoVadis offers a collaborative platform to companies enabling them to be evaluated on their social, societal and environmental policies, as well as the ethical business practices and application of responsible corporate criteria. CSR requirements are increasingly taken into in the purchasing decisions companies take with their suppliers.

Socomec became a member of the EcoVadis platform in 2014. Based on 21 criteria divided into 4 themes (environment, labour practices, fair business practices/ethics, supply chain), Socomec's assessment score reached 48/100 in the first year. In 2015, the rating rose to 54/100. And in 2017, it hit the 64/100 mark. Socomec therefore joins the top 4% of the 21,000 companies around the world that are rated every year by the agency.

For Socomec, this performance is the result of the mobilisation of all the operational departments within the Group in carrying out their corporate responsibility commitments. The success is recognition of the economic, social, societal and environmental commitments undertaken by Socomec over the years.
